Subject: Temporary Employment with the United States Census Bureau and Restored SNAP Benefits

Operations Memorandum 091203 stated that instructions would be issued when additional guidance was received from the Food and Nutrition Service on whether CAOs are required to restore SNAP benefits to households in which temporary census income was counted.

Are CAOs required to restore benefits to SNAP households in which income from temporary Census Employment was counted?

Yes. Income from temporary employment from the United States Census Bureau should not have been counted in determining the SNAP benefit beginning December 2009. If the CAO discovers that a loss of benefits has occurred because temporary Census income was counted after December 1, 2009, the CAO must automatically restore benefits without requiring the household to request restored benefits. See SNAP Handbook Chapter 581, Restoring Benefits.

All SNAP households with temporary Census income should be reviewed at SAR and Renewal to determine if a loss of benefits occurred and if supplemental benefits should be issued.
